PRESENTATION FORMAT

EDiLiC OBJECTIVE

The congress aims in particular to foster in-depth reflection on the social implications of choices made in plurilingual and intercultural education, as well as on the ways in which pluralistic approaches continue to evolve and to spread through research and teacher education.

On the occasion of the association's 25th anniversary, the 12th EDiLiC Congress proposes to explore the scope and evolution of these approaches through the four strands brought together in the Framework of Reference for Pluralistic Approaches to Languages and Cultures (FREPA): Awakening to Languages, Integrated Didactic Approach of Languages and Cultures, Teaching Intercomprehension between Related Languages, and Intercultural Education. The congress also aims to highlight the intersections, extensions, and ongoing theoretical, methodological, and pedagogical developments that are currently shaping the field.
